

MORNING APPEAL.

Saturday, March 24, 1898.

THE SAME EVERYWHERE.

The following from the Industrial News is not only true of workingmen in Pennsylvania, but of workingmen everywhere. They "howl" against monopolists and political corruptionists every day in the year but election day. On election day they "howl" for them and vote for them. This is why so little attention is paid to the demands of "honest labor."

The News says:

"Nine out of ten voters in the State of Pennsylvania are workingmen and are held in the vise-like grip of the vast monopolies which rule the State. They could throttle these monopolies if they would, but they won't. If President Corbin, of the Reading railway, were nominated for Governor, by one of the old parties, and John Stetson, that hat scab, by the other, and such a noble man as Geo. W. Childs by a Labor Reform Party, either Corbin or Stetson would be elected, and Childs would hardly know he ran. Labor advocates who are now howling against Corbin and Stetson, would be out at the polls working for their election, telling what a fraud Child is. Every experienced labor advocate knows this to be a fact, and until it ceases to be a fact labor will be a slave."

THAT INVESTIGATION.

What's become of the mining investigation? Where is the Committee?

The APPEAL predicted that the investigation would end in nothing, and it is so turning out.

The mines do not want an investigation, and the Committee is not anxious.

Whenever the mining management of the Comstock is properly investigated it will show up a state of affairs that will astonish the credulous and guileless stock buyers who have been duped and robbed all these long years in a way that they have never dreamed of.

IT CAN'T BE WORKED.

The air is full of rumors regarding a job to nominate a weak man on the Republican ticket, whom Cassidy can easily beat.

The APPEAL has received a good deal of information on this subject of late, but it does not care to mention names. The Republicans of Nevada will submit to no proposition of this kind. The party was sold out once before on just such a deal, and will not again permit it.

A Salted Mine Decision.

The Supreme Court of the United States has affirmed the decision of the Circuit Court of California in the case of the Southern Development Company against Frank Silver. The latter sold the Development Company mines in Mono County. They did not pan out and the Company sued to recover the money paid Silver, on the grounds that he had "salted" the mines and obtained the money under false pretenses. The Circuit Court held that it was the business of the Company to have ascertained the true character of the mines before making the purchase and the Supreme Court upholds that view of the case.

In other words a mine purchaser has no protection against a dishonest man who salts a mine.

The Judge's Warning.

"Gentlemen," said the Judge of an Idaho Court to the attorneys during the trial, "I don't mind your shooting at each other occasionally if the circumstances seem to justify it; but I see that one of your bullets has hit an overcoat belonging to the Court and broken a quart flask in the inside pocket. I wish it to be distinctly understood that if there is any more such careless shooting in this Court, I'll lift the scalp of the galoot that does it. Now go ahead with the case."

—C. C. Powning is planning a trip to St. Louis, where the Democratic Convention is being held. He is not a candidate for the Presidency, but would not decline if the nomination were forced on him.
